SAFEGUARDING YOUNG PEOPLE & CHILDREN:

ONE DAY TRAINING

Every practitioner who works directly with or has contact with young people and children are required to attend relevant foundation training in this area of work and keep themselves updated on a regular basis. This course provides an overview of the legislative framework, current best practice and how to ensure the identification of abuse or maltreatment should it occur. It will highlight practical developments and initiatives which serve to protect children and promote a holistic multi-agency approach which is essential in safeguarding.

WHO IS THIS COURSE FOR?

Any practitioner working in health, social services or in the voluntary sector who may work with or have regular contact with young people and/or children

SUMMARY OF CONTENT:

- Recognise and respond appropriately to child maltreatment
- Understand patterns and indicators of child maltreatment, including the impact of parental behaviour on the welfare of children
- Understand the 'Think Family' agenda
- Understand the importance of information sharing, accurate documentation of concerns and appropriate referral mechanisms
- Recognise and describe a significant event in child protection/safeguarding and understand in general terms the processes required for appropriate interventions and contribute to multi-agency assessment and planning
- Understand your own role and responsibilities in safeguarding children and know how to seek advice and support
